

Geometric subspace selectivity:
does each component predict its method's behavior better?

