

Does the geometry-behavior link survive controlling for vector norm?

